

March 2008

Dear Soccer Enthusiast:

As part of U.S. Soccer's commitment to player development, we have invested heavily in providing our National Team athletes with opportunities to play the game in international settings. We are firm believers that these experiences are invaluable to a player's ability to achieve the next level of growth.

The same goes for your athletes. Traveling internationally with your team presents an opportunity for growth on and off the field. In addition to development through challenging matches, these experiences provide your team unique opportunities to spend time together off the field, building important friendships and team chemistry while allowing your players to explore new cultures.

U.S. Soccer is proud to be a partner of Premier International Tours, formerly Euro-Sporting, and is confident that their staff will help customize an international experience to help further the development of your team

Best regards,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Sunil K. Gulati'.

Sunil Gulati
President
U.S. Soccer Federation